IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

A BILL

To provide funding for programs at the National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences regarding breast cancer in younger women, and for other purposes.

- 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
- 2 tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,
- 3 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.
- 4 This Act may be cited as the "Annie Fox Act".
- 5 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.
- 6 The Congress finds the following:

- 1 (1) Breast cancer is a serious health concern 2 for all women, striking more women in the world 3 than any other type of cancer other than skin can-4 cer.
 - (2) In the past 50 years, women's lifetime risk of breast cancer has nearly tripled in the United States.
 - (3) Despite notable progress in efforts to expand knowledge of breast cancer and its causes, there is still much to learn, and financial resources are needed to accomplish this goal.
 - (4) Broadening the scope of current research to include underrepresented populations, in particular women who are 15 to 40 years of age, is necessary to have a comprehensive understanding of breast cancer and the long-term health effects of cancer treatments on younger women.
 - (5) Breast cancer is a leading cause of cancer death in women who are 15 to 40 years of age.
 - (6) Approximately 11,000 women under the age of 40 will be diagnosed with breast cancer this year, of which nearly 1,300 will die.
 - (7) There are nearly 250,000 women in the United States under the age of 40 currently living with breast cancer.

- 1 (8) Breast cancer tends to be more aggressive 2 in younger women than in their post-menopausal 3 counterparts due to the lack of appropriate diag-4 nostic tools and screening devices, and inadequate 5 education about the disease among younger women 6 and the medical community.
 - (9) Because younger women's cancers are generally more aggressive, they typically have lower survival rates than their post-menopausal counterparts.
 - (10) Younger women with breast cancer are confronted with many issues that their post-menopausal counterparts do not face, including the possibility of early menopause, pregnancy after diagnosis, generally more advanced cancers at diagnosis, and higher mortality rates.
- 16 (11) Younger women are virtually excluded 17 from breast cancer studies, most of which are con-18 ducted on women over the age of 45.

19 SEC. 3. PROGRAMS AT NIEHS REGARDING BREAST CANCER

- 20 IN YOUNGER WOMEN.
- 21 Subpart 12 of part C of title IV of the Public Health
- 22 Service Act (42 U.S.C. 285l et seq.; relating to the Na-
- 23 tional Institute of Environmental Health Sciences) is
- 24 amended by adding at the end the following:
